4 Weekly Camps – July 30 – August 24, 2018

This Year - Each week a different GM or IM Guest Instructor

2018 Camps

For over 25 years, the NSCF has been providing students of all ages a fun-filled summer of chess. Our students prevent summer learning loss and improve their creative thinking and problem solving skills while exercising their minds and bodies.

This year's camp features visiting GM and IM instructors, and also focuses on increasing literacy with engaging stories of the life and times of some of the game's greatest champions. Plus, students will receive our new book Great Moves, and an online subscription so they can independently continue their chess studies after the camp.

Group Instruction
Individual Game Analysis
Visiting GMs and IMs
Opening Preparation
Endgame Technique
Structured Play
Supervised Outdoor Recreation

Learning from the Masters: Chess & History

Using our new book "Great Moves: Learning Chess Through History," each afternoon students will look at more advanced concepts in chess by studying games from the great masters, presented with the "backstory" exploring the times in which these players lived.

The blended learning approach (chess/literacy/social studies) provides context, and helps make connections between chess and other subjects. Each week a different feature: Philidor – Chess in the Age of Enlightenment; Howard Staunton – Chess Competition Turns International; Adolf Anderssen – The Romantic Era; Paul Morphy – The First American Genius. Material from the book is supplemented with modern games to reinforce the chess concepts.
